

THE CALL TO

Faithfulness

In October 2012, the Moro Islamic Liberation Front signed an agreement with the Philippine government that was viewed by the separatist rebels as a significant step toward their goal of Islamic domination in Mindanao. Since the agreement was implemented, militant Muslims have been trying to drive out the Christians of this island by taking their land and crops, hijacking motorbikes and raiding their villages. Believers who evangelize Muslims are particularly targeted. To reach out to these suffering followers of Christ in their time of urgent need, VOM has made several provisions available in three Mindanao villages that have been under attack by Muslim rebels. In this issue, some of these targeted believers candidly share their experiences with us.
